RIDING high

Luke Grimes trades his lasso for law enforcement in a Yellowstone spin-off series

NEW FROM Paramount+

NEW DRAMA

Marshals: A Yellowstone Story

From Mon 2 March, Paramount+ (released weekly)

Buckle up, Yellowstone fans. The dust may have settled on the hit western saga, but the youngest Dutton sibling, ex-Navy SEAL and complicated cowboy Kayce, is leaving the family ranch for pastures new in a 13-part sequel series.

Marshals: A Yellowstone Story picks up after the flagship show's fifth run, when Kayce (Luke Grimes), heir to the late John Dutton's cattle empire, cut a deal with Chairman Thomas Rainwater (Gil Birmingham) and the Broken Rock tribe, selling off the majority of his land.

Now, Kayce is dusting off his Stetson and pinning on a star-shaped badge as he joins an elite US Marshals unit.

'Wrapping on Yellowstone was a bigger moment in my life than I thought it would be,' says Ohio-born actor and country-music singer Grimes. 'It was really emotional and, in a way, like losing a family. I don't think the fans wanted it to be over.'

But when Grimes was approached with the idea for a sequel, the 42-year-old actor admits he was in two minds about any possible projects.

NEW DIRECTION

'In Yellowstone, the end of Kayce's story was perfect for him. He got what he always wanted: to be a guy of the land, a cowboy and his own little slice of heaven with his family, so I wasn't going to just do a spin-off. We had to make it make sense,' he explains.

'I thought the idea of Marshals opened up the whole world for Kayce. Plus, he's not the only character from Yellowstone in the show. There'll be some people you know and love.'

Familiar faces include Thomas and his steadfast right-hand man, Mo, played by Mo Brings Plenty. Kayce's son, Tate (Brecken Merrill), is also back, but whether Kayce's wife, Monica (Kelsey Asbille), will appear remains unknown.

Yellowstone creator Taylor Sheridan is at the helm, but rather than producing a simple sequel, Marshals is a mix of high-speed chases, shoot-outs and procedural drama. Set against Montana's majestic wide horizons, the action follows Kayce as he juggles duty to his team, his family and local residents when a bomber targets the Broken Rock reservation.

'Right off the bat, everyone will see that this is a very different show and a very different version of Kayce,' says Grimes. 'It opens the door for a lot of really interesting storylines.'

Meanwhile, new series regulars include Kayce's old military buddy, Pete Calvin (Logan Marshall-Green), plus Harry Gifford (Brett Cullen), the head of the Marshals' Montana unit featuring Belle Skinner (Arielle Kebbel), Andrea Cruz (Ash Santos) and Miles Kittle (Tatanka Means).

'It's a different Kayce than we've seen in the past and things happen very early on to free him up to go be the guy I think we wanted him to be to begin with,' says Grimes. 'He's doing things we know he's capable of, but wasn't allowed to do in Yellowstone. Kayce's arc was that he didn't know what to do with his life, and now he's got a path and a journey to go on.

'I've been playing this guy for several years. He's really close to my heart and feels like a family member. But everything else is new. His job, the cast – it's a whole new world. I feel like this character has changed my life in so many ways – and I'll ride this ride as long as they let me.'

DUTTON DYNASTY

Michelle Pfeiffer in The Madison

Following the success of prequel series 1883, starring Tim McGraw and Faith Hill – and its follow-up, 1923, starring Harrison Ford and Dame Helen Mirren – the Yellowstone universe is unleashing a stampede of spin-offs.

Next up is six-parter The Madison, which gallops onto Paramount+ on 14 March, and follows wealthy matriarch Stacy Clyburn (Michelle Pfeiffer) as she ups sticks from NYC to Montana's Madison River Valley after a family tragedy. Kurt Russell and Matthew Fox also star.

Filming is already under way on The Dutton Ranch, which reunites Kayce's fiery, fearless sister Beth (Kelly Reilly) and her rugged ranch-foreman husband, Rip Wheeler (Cole Hauser). The cast includes Ed Harris and Annette Bening.

Meanwhile, 1944, a World War Two-set follow-up to 1883 and 1923, is also in development.

'The great thing about the Dutton family is you can skip generations and put them in these unique situations,' says Taylor Sheridan. 'They're all stand-alones, and that's what I find so intriguing.'

WHO'S WHO

Pete Calvin
Logan Marshall-Green
Kayce's old military comrade is a veteran who understands what it takes to succeed within the US Marshals.

Belle Skinner
Arielle Kebbel
With nerves of steel and a sharp mind, the dedicated Marshal's loyalty is unwavering. But will she stand firm in the field?

Andrea Cruz
Ash Santos
A skilled and resilient member of Kayce's squad, she faces the demanding challenge of criminal gangs and violent cartels.

Miles Kittle
Tatanka Means
Calm and reliable, Miles' knowledge of the land and its communities is invaluable to his fellow Marshals.

Kayce Dutton
Luke Grimes
The ex-rancher and former Navy SEAL leaves the Yellowstone life behind to bring justice to Montana as a US Marshal.

Lothario Ted

BEAR with me

Ted and family return to tackle more life milestones in a second season

NEW COMEDY

Ted

Friday, 9pm & 9.45pm, Sky One (box set, Sky Box Sets & NOW)

When Ted first bulldozed his way on to our screens in the 2012 movie of the same name, the crass, foul-mouthed CGI teddy won himself a legion of fans.

The hit film starred Mark Wahlberg as John Bennett, whose childhood wish to bring his teddy-bear best friend to life came true, and was followed by the sequel Ted 2 three years later.

In 2024, a prequel series took us back to the 90s to delve deeper into the pair's early years together and followed teenage John (now played by Parenthood's Max Burkholder) and Ted (voiced by creator Seth MacFarlane) as they navigated the ups and downs of adolescence.

NEW ADVENTURES

'It's really exciting to bring back a global phenomenon in a new way because Ted is evergreen,' says executive producer Erica Huggins. 'He has new experiences, but he gets to live for ever. There is something for everybody in the show, whether or not you've seen the Ted movies.'

Season 1 saw Ted living with 16-year-old John, John's parents Matty (ER's Scott Grimes) and Susan (Euphoria's Alanna Ubach) and his progressive, sexually fluid cousin Blaire (Giorgia Whigham) in Framingham, Massachusetts.

Ted's brief brush with fame and notoriety as a sentient teddy bear had passed, and Ted was forced to attend high school, where he and John stumbled through many teen milestones together, such as acquiring porn and getting stoned for the first time of many.

After the series managed to keep fans of the original movies hooked, while also attracting a whole new generation of viewers, MacFarlane knew the franchise deserved a second season.

'There has to be an audience for something like this,' he insists. 'You don't want to just keep rehashing the same character if no one's watching. I guess there's a lot of that today anyway, but it's not really our first order of business – there really has to be an appetite.

Ted with the Bennett family

TEENAGE TROUBLES

'The nice thing about it is that it feels like the same Ted audiences have grown to love but it also feels like its own entity. This 90s world that we've created has opened up a lot of areas we couldn't necessarily have explored in the movie and it feels like its own universe, while still feeling like the Ted films.'

This time, we catch up with the pair as they are halfway through their senior year at high school.

Perennial loser John is worried that he will be heading off to college having never had a girlfriend, and Ted is determined to introduce his best pal to the joys of sex. But phoning a chat line from school lands the pair in hot water and, as ever, mayhem ensues.

'People are feeling starved of comedy right now and they just want to laugh. We wanted to create a new world and make people feel like there's a reason to watch beyond reliving old laughs,' explains MacFarlane.

'And the beauty of Ted being an animated character is that he doesn't age. He's going to be the same Ted people remember. He's like an old friend.'

Mad for it

Jack Whitehall hosts the BRIT Awards from Manchester

LIVE AWARDS

BRIT Awards
Saturday, 8.15pm, ITV1

Manchester has produced some of the biggest bands in British music history, including The Smiths, New Order, The Stone Roses and Oasis. So it's fitting that, on Saturday night, the biggest event in the music industry's calendar debuts at its new Manchester home – the Co-op Live – as the BRIT Awards airs on ITV1.

Stand-up comic and actor Jack Whitehall is back to host as Harry Styles, Olivia Dean and Wolf Alice perform at the event, where Mark Ronson will be honoured for his Outstanding Contribution to Music and Oasis star Noel Gallagher will receive the award for Songwriter of the Year.

Here, Whitehall, 37, reveals what's in store...

This is your sixth time hosting the BRIT Awards. What do you most enjoy about doing the show? I love that unpredictable element of the BRITs – there's nothing quite like it in terms of a job as a host. It's great to be given the opportunity to keep coming back and I'm excited to be in Manchester, a place that's so important to me [Whitehall was a student at the University of Manchester before dropping out to do stand-up].

Did you enjoy student life in Manchester? I used to enjoy all sorts of nonsense, like going out just in a toga. The BRITs after-party should be slightly classier!

You're known for your mischievous on-stage banter. Do you ever worry about taking a joke too far? In every other show I've done, I've been more policed [by producers] but, with the BRITs, they're happy for me to push boundaries. I used to worry about upsetting people but now I like it when someone gets a bee in their bonnet over something I've said – it shows I'm pushing the right buttons.

Oasis' Noel Gallagher

Olivia Dean will perform

Is there a celebrity you're hoping to wind up? Harry Styles is someone I've had a long friendship with. He's super-talented, so I am very excited that he will be a big part of the show this year. He's always up for chatting and playing around.

Lessons in love

Rachel Weisz and Leo Woodall star in a steamy campus romance

NEW COMEDY DRAMA

Vladimir

From Thursday 5 March, Netflix

English professor 'M' used to feel like one half of the 'golden couple on campus' at the Upstate New York college where she works with her husband John, a poetry lecturer with whom she has an open marriage.

'They have been the king and queen of the English literary department,' explains Rachel Weisz, who stars as M in steamy eight-part comedy drama Vladimir. 'And they're a beloved teaching couple.'

Rachel Weisz as M and Leo Woodall as Vladimir

STALE REALITY

However, when historical affairs John (Mad Men's John Slattery) has had with students come to light and are the subject of an internal investigation, the marriage comes under strain.

'John has been suspended from teaching, and their professional world is beginning to fall apart,' says Weisz. 'They are both under a lot of stress, and the woman you meet at the beginning of the series is trying to hold on for dear life as, by association, her reputation is tainted and she is losing her throne.'

The fallout from John's past indiscretions soon threatens the couple's previously stable marriage.

'My character has been married for a long time,' says Weisz, 55, who off-screen is married to former James Bond actor Daniel Craig. 'She's definitely stood by her husband through thick and thin, she does love him, and they're best friends. But at the moment where this story begins, he's pushed her right to the edge of what she can handle with his behaviour.'

The revelations about John's past also destabilise the couple's relationship with their adult daughter Sid (Ellen Robertson), when M blurts out the truth about what's happened during an argument at the dinner table.

'M has one child and is a really devoted mother,' says Weisz. 'She's tried really hard to keep her family together, but there have been some unusual circumstances that are putting them under quite a lot of pressure.'

John (John Slattery)

ALL-CONSUMING DESIRE

A welcome distraction presents itself in the form of newly arrived academic Vladimir Vladinski (One Day's Leo Woodall), who is married to author Cynthia (Silo's Jessica Henwick) and has a young child.

'My character falls into a deep obsession with Vladimir,' explains Weisz, adding that the attraction is not merely physical. 'He is kind, he listens, and he's courteous and thoughtful. He's also interested in her writing career, and asks her questions that other people don't. So she feels seen – and it's helpful that he is staggeringly handsome!'

Throughout the series, Weisz's character frequently breaks the fourth wall, Fleabag-style, to speak directly to the camera.

'Julia May Jonas, who wrote the novel Vladimir and adapted it into a screenplay, came up with the idea of having my character speak to the camera in personal asides, because the novel is a first-person narrative,' explains Weisz. 'When you read the novel, you have direct access to the character's thoughts. So the same thing happens in the series.’

She adds that the playful tone of the writing was also a major draw.

‘I’d read Julia’s novel prior to being offered the role, and her writing is so mischievous, truthful and slightly ridiculous,’ she says. ‘That’s what makes it funny, and it’s a good tonal cocktail for exploring some very serious subjects.’

As well as the intense chemistry between the two main characters, the series also homes in on sexual politics within the academic world they inhabit.

‘Everything gets very heightened in this kingdom,’ says Weisz, whose film credits include The Favourite and The Constant Gardener, for which she won the 2006 Academy Award for Best Supporting Actress. ‘It’s a liberal arts college, so there’s a lot of political awareness in the student body, and it’s a complicated environment for M to defend her husband in. So as well as exploring themes related to desire, obsession, sexuality and lust, Vladimir also delves into the world of on-campus gender politics and cancel culture.’

Kiss of DEATH

A love triangle has deadly consequences in a darkly comic drama

NEW DRAMA

DTF St Louis

Monday, 9pm, Sky Atlantic

David Harbour spent almost a decade battling creatures from the Upside Down in Netflix's Stranger Things. Now, after the hit fantasy drama came to end over the New Year, the American actor is taking on a very different role in his latest project.

Sky Atlantic's seven-part black comedy DTF St Louis tells the story of a middle-aged love triangle that ends in murder.

MIDLIFE CRISIS

'Stranger Things has been my life for the past couple of years,' says Emmy nominee Harbour, who played Hawkins chief of police Jim Hopper. 'DTF St Louis feels much more grounded. It's just a guy going through middle-aged problems, as opposed to a character that has to kill a monster or save the world.'

In this week's opening episode, we meet TV weatherman Clark Forrest (Ozark's Jason Bateman), a married father living in the Midwest city of St Louis who downloads a swingers app in the hope of spicing up his sex life.

Meanwhile, Clark's new colleague Floyd (Harbour), who works as a sign language interpreter for Clark's weather reports, is also dealing with a lack of spark in the bedroom with his wife Carol (Dead to Me's Linda Cardellini).

Jason Bateman and David Harbour

'It's a very adult show about a very complicated person,' says Harbour, who is divorced from pop star Lily Allen. 'Floyd is a large man who's very self-conscious about how large he is. Before we started filming, the production team were like, "Let's have you start eating peanut butter." But I wanted to use prosthetics instead and the team created a prosthetic belly that moved with my body. It's really quite extraordinary what they can do nowadays.'

Floyd is eventually persuaded to download the app by Clark. However, he has no idea it will eventually lead to micro-celebrity Clark and Carol beginning an affair – with deadly consequences.

IN HOT WATER

Oscar nominee Richard Jenkins and Wednesday star Joy Sunday round out the cast as an odd-couple detective team determined to solve the mystery.

'Floyd, Clark and Carol are letting their passions come out after years of not really being able to live inside of them, hoping that there aren't real heavy consequences for that,' says writer and director Steven Conrad. 'But these infidelities, these flirtations, and these sharing of passions outside your marriage, they add up to a heavy toll.'

Ross Kemp: Lost Boys, Deadly Men

Mon, 9pm, Crime + Investigation (box set, Sky Box Sets & Virgin TV Box Sets)

As well as starring in EastEnders and Ultimate Force, Essex-born Ross Kemp has made a slew of documentaries, including Ross Kemp on Gangs, Ross Kemp: The Fight Against ISIS (inset) and, most recently, Ross Kemp: Mafia and Britain. He has also hosted BBC1 quiz show Bridge of Lies since 2022.

HIS NEW SHOW

In a five-part series that investigates murders carried out by young men who openly admitted to a hatred of women, Kemp, 61, looks at the 2021 case of crane operator Jake Davison, who shot his mum, Maxine, with a legally-owned gun at their home in Plymouth, Devon. He then went on a killing spree, murdering four others, including three-year-old Sophie Martyn and her father, Lee, before turning the gun on himself. The programme features Davison's father, Mark, who is still struggling for answers.

LAST ONE DRAMA

Lord of the Flies

Sunday, 9pm, BBC1

The boys' primitive instincts take hold in this week's finale of Lord of the Flies, with horrifying consequences.

Following the death of Simon (Ike Talbut), the majority of the survivors have defected to the tribe of hunters led by Jack (Lox Pratt), leaving former leader Ralph (Winston Sawyers) with only right-hand man Piggy (David McKenna) and a handful of the 'little'uns' on his side.

And when Jack's followers stage a raid in the middle of the night, seizing Piggy's glasses so they can start their own fires, Ralph realises that his authority on the island is now gone.

STAYING STRONG

'Ralph loses friends and people in his camp,' says Sawyers. 'But he stays with the same agenda; he doesn't want to join the bad guys. Ralph is quite rooted in who he is, and what he believes in.'

Hoping to appeal to Jack's sense of fairness, Ralph and Piggy make their way to his camp to plead for the return of Piggy's glasses. However, their request is scoffed at – and events then take a devastating turn.

'Jack has his beliefs and ideology, and Ralph has different ones,' says Sawyers. 'They start as friends, but they realise that they're a threat to each other, for power – and at the end, they absolutely hate each other. But I think Jack hates Ralph more than Ralph hates Jack.'

DESCENT INTO CHAOS

With hedonistic Jack now in charge, the island erupts into anarchy and violence, leaving Ralph desperately fighting for survival. But just when it looks as though all hope is lost, the boys make a surprising discovery.

'At the end of the story, Ralph is traumatised, beaten and bruised,' reveals Sawyers. 'He's essentially just broken.'

Although this final instalment of the adaptation of William Golding's celebrated 1954 novel features some tense fighting scenes, Sawyers explains that the young stars took great care to film them safely.

'You rehearse until you really get the scene in your system,' he says. 'You don't use actual stones or wood spears, you use rubber ones that look like the real thing. They could still hurt, but we were obviously careful!'

Lox Pratt as Jack

Jonathan Ross. 'I'm hoping that by living together in such close proximity, they might just learn to get along.'

However, the nine pairings are designed to test the contestants' patience. For example, Tilly, 37, who works three jobs, finds herself coupled with 60-year-old millionaire Anthony, and Cockney former prison officer George, 60, is partnered with Sir Benjamin Slade, 79, the 7th Baronet of Maunsel, Somerset.

'Some people think if you speak a certain way and you have a certain job,you're below them,' says Tilly. 'Just because you're rich, it doesn't mean that you're wiser.'

The pairs will spend time in each other's homes before travelling across the UK, and must remain shackled at all times, even while going to the toilet. If they remove their handcuffs, they are out of the game, and the last pair standing will win the £100,000 prize – but it doesn't take long before some of the couples start to struggle.

'I can't deal with this whole toxic-masculinity thing,' says body-positivity advocate and feminist Jo, 39, who's been matched with self-confessed alpha male Reuben, 29. 'I just want him to treat me with respect.'

While some of the pairs are clearly having doubts, Ross, 65, believes he'd breeze through the experiment. 'I don't think there's anything about me that's remotely annoying,' he jokes. 'I think I would be the perfect person to be handcuffed to.'

NEW Available: Wednesday 4 March
Genre: Drama Season: 1 Eps: 8

Guy Ritchie brought Sherlock Holmes to the big screen with two blockbuster films starring Robert Downey Jr and Jude Law, and now he returns to Arthur Conan Doyle's iconic character with a new series exploring the famous sleuth's origins.

Prime Video's action-packed eight-part drama is set in the 1870s and charts Sherlock's beginnings as the confident, charismatic and charmingly defiant youngster (Hero Fiennes Tiffin) heads off to the University of Oxford.

'I feel when you play the younger version of an established character, you've got to work backwards,' says Fiennes Tiffin. 'We wanted to explore what could have happened before Conan Doyle's works began and how Sherlock developed his ability to deduce and detect.'

TEAMING UP

Once at Oxford, Sherlock makes a connection with the equally brilliant James Moriarty (Dónal Finn), and becomes close friends with the man who will go on to become his arch-enemy.

'When we did our chemistry read, Dónal came in towards the end of the day, so I was getting a little tired and maybe not as focused as I should have been,' explains Fiennes Tiffin, 28. 'I remember he delivered the first couple of lines of the scene, and I thought, "Oh my God, if I don't wake up, he's going to make me look really bad!" because he's a sensational actor.'

Guy Ritchie on location

Sherlock's first case is to clear his own name when he is accused of stealing ancient scrolls belonging to Chinese princess Gulun Shou'an (Zine Tseng). When he is then also suspected of murdering a professor, the budding crime-fighter must battle to prove his innocence while uncovering a dark conspiracy that takes him far beyond Victorian England.

Martha Fiennes and the nephew of Ralph Fiennes, with whom he starred in Harry Potter and the Half-Blood Prince. This time, he's joined on screen by another uncle, The Handmaid's Tale actor Joseph Fiennes, who portrays Sherlock's father, Silas.

Meanwhile, as a big fan of the 2009 movie Sherlock Holmes and its 2011 sequel, A Game of Shadows, Fiennes Tiffin was delighted to work with director Ritchie.

'Those movies are amazing,' he enthuses. 'I loved working with Guy, and it was fun to spend time with him developing scenes. I've learnt from him the importance of being happy to change things on the day, and what life that can bring to the project – things can start to feel a little bit stale if you don't do that.'

Visual effects re-create the Tyrannosaurus rex

A groundbreaking new series from Steven Spielberg brings dinosaurs back to life...

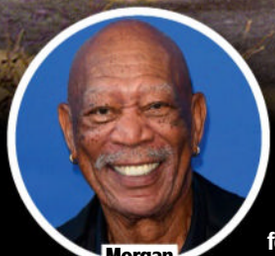
Dino might



Morgan Freeman

NETFLIX The Dinosaurs

NEW Available: Friday 6 March
Genre: Documentary
Season: 1 Episodes: 4

Oscar-winning actor Morgan Freeman narrates new Netflix series The Dinosaurs. From executive producer Steven Spielberg, it charts the rapid rise and meteoric fall of the prehistoric reptiles over 165 million years.

Using cutting-edge visual effects and animation, and filmed like a wildlife documentary, the world of the dinosaurs is brought to life across four episodes, featuring megastars like Tyrannosaurus rex, Triceratops, Allosaurus and Stegosaurus, alongside some extraordinary lesser-known species.

'This is the story of the dinosaurs as it has never been told before,' says Freeman, who narrated the 2023 Netflix series Life on Our Planet, which was also executive produced by Jurassic Park director Spielberg.

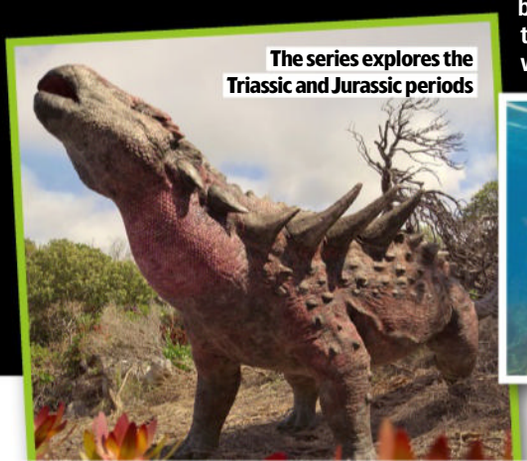
'It takes place in a world lost to time, millions and millions of years in the past, on a planet that looks nothing like it does today, where extraordinary beasts struggled to survive and where Earth's violent forces determined their fates.'

IN THE BEGINNING

The tale begins 235 million years ago on the supercontinent of Pangaea with the emergence of a pigeon-sized creature known as a Marasuchus, whose descendants became the dinosaurs.

'The Triassic era is the age of ancient reptiles, but Marasuchus had skills that set them apart, including the ability to stand on two legs, not just four,' explains Freeman, star of Million Dollar Baby and The Shawshank Redemption.

'They also had advanced lungs and lighter bones, adaptations that meant they were born to run.'



The series explores the Triassic and Jurassic periods

Later in the series, we move through the Triassic period to the Jurassic era, as dinosaurs evolved across millennia to become a force to be feared, dominating the land, sea and air, until a mass-extinction event 66 million years ago.

We also get to learn about some remarkable species, from the tiny Heterodontosaurus, which was the weight of a chihuahua and had an incredibly strong beak and jaw, to the Pachycephalosaurus, whose 4in-thick skulls were designed for headbutting, as well as leviathans from the sea and early feathered fliers like Anchiornis.

LEARNING FROM THE LEGACY

'Although the reign of the dinosaurs finally came to an end, today their fossils stand as monuments to a lost world and are the keys that unlock the secrets of the dinosaur story,' explains Freeman.

'Our understanding of their lives is now greater than ever, while some survive even to this day – the flying dinosaurs we now call birds. They're the last remaining link to a long-lost kingdom.'

Robot WARS

Alan Ritchson battles a giant mechanical monster in a sci-fi action epic

81 faces the killing machine

NETFLIX War Machine

NEW Available: Friday 6 March
Genre: Sci-fi

Reacher* star Alan Ritchson faces a relentless, robotic nightmare in military sci-fi thriller War Machine, which fuses the hunting suspense of Predator with a Terminator-like killing machine.

From The Hitman's Bodyguard director Patrick Hughes, the film centres on a combat engineer known as 81 (Ritchson), who, like his fellow recruits, is only referred to as a number during the gruelling US Army Ranger selection process.

But while the exhausted-yet-elite squad struggle with sleep deprivation and a brutal training regime, the final 24 hours turns into a deadly battleground when they stumble across an other-worldly, deadly and laser-focussed machine in the wilderness. Who will make it out alive?

'I'm going to level with you, I'm the most tired I've ever been,' says Ritchson, 43, who also recently wrapped filming on Reacher's fourth season. 'It's been a tough one, but there's something about the spirit of 81 that has captured me so much. He's a character that inspires us to be the best version of ourselves

'We've made something so intense that it'll be hard to do that thing where you scroll on one device and half-watch the other.'

DANGER ZONES

Ritchson fully immersed himself in demanding stuntwork during the shoot across Australia and New Zealand.

'Patrick found the most dangerous places on Earth – mountaintops, rapids, glacial waterfalls – and said, "Go on, jump in!"' he reveals. 'He also found the most dangerous Class V rapids in New Zealand, but I was ready to take a dip.'

The cast includes Jai Courtney as 81's brother, while Stephan James, Keiynan Lonsdale and Daniel Webber play members of the Army squad. Esai Morales and Dennis Quaid also star as commanding officers.

'It's a big, traditional American action movie, with a villain who's kind of hard to describe,' says Happy Face star Quaid, 71. 'But the personality of this machine and the relentlessness of it will not leave you disappointed.

'I had a blast in Australia, too. I got to play the general and never got my uniform dirty, while Alan was up to his chest in mud. He's fantastic, and it's going to be wild to watch.'

Bailey visits the My Son Sanctuary

Comedian Bill Bailey explores Vietnam over 50 years after the war

NEW TRAVELOGUE

Bill Bailey's Vietnam

Saturday, 9.15pm, C4

Bill Bailey brings his deadpan presenting style to his latest travelogue, which sees him uncover how Vietnam is rapidly changing in a globalised world, while also dealing with its turbulent past.

Bailey explores the country over 50 years since the end of the Vietnam War, visits the UNESCO World Heritage town of Hoi An, the bustling Ho Chi Minh City and the border with China.

Here, Bailey, 61, reveals more…

Why did Vietnam make it on to your travelogue bucket list? I'd been to Vietnam before, but as part of a comedy tour, so I didn't really explore. I thought this would be a great opportunity to see the rest of the country, particularly at a time when Vietnam is reflecting on over 50 years since the end of the war.

What did you learn about how the country is dealing with the past? I didn't want the war to dominate this series, but you also can't ignore it. I met an ex-Vietnamese intelligence officer and he had this wonderful rationale – we accept what happened and we move on. What's incredible about the Vietnamese is that they haven't let the war define them as a nation.

What surprised you most? Travelling up north near the Chinese border where the traditional hill tribes live. That was a real eye-opener. I wasn't aware that Vietnam has such an array of different ethnicities. I think there are something like 54 different ethnic groups in Vietnam.

Were there any filming challenges? Just crossing the road! What I realised was if you twirl an umbrella quite aggressively, then the traffic flows around you. If nothing else, they think, 'Look at that nutter, I'm going to give him a wide berth.' Also, I had a bat fly in my face in the Cu Chi Tunnels. That was a moment!

You enjoy meeting people, but was there an encounter that stood out for you? I got my fortune told by this kind of priest. I wasn't expecting a medical diagnosis, but he told me he thought I had a problem with my small intestine. He said, 'It will happen in October.' It was very specific. I didn't get checked out, but I definitely found myself living day-to-day until the end of the month.

Alexander Armstrong discovers a country of contrasts

NEW TRAVELOGUE

Alexander Armstrong in India

Thursday, 8pm, 5

Bill Bailey isn't the only celebrity packing his bags this week. Pointless host Alexander Armstrong also heads to Asia, where the sprawling cities of Delhi, Jaipur, Bengaluru and Mumbai are all on the itinerary as he explores India in his latest three-part travelogue.

Boasting the world's largest population of 1.4 billion, India has changed hugely since Armstrong first visited 35 years ago.

'To witness India's emergence as a global superpower is incredibly exciting,' says Armstrong, who begins in the crowded city of Mumbai.

'It's mind-blowing. Mumbai is home to some of the most expensive real estate in the world, including a 27-storey building where the billionaire Ambani family lives. They have 12 floors just for their cars!

'You see these eye-wateringly expensive developments cheek by jowl with teetering old slums, where close-knit communities have lived in poverty for centuries.'

He later explores neighbouring Dharavi before doing a shift alongside the city's legendary dabbawalas, who deliver home-cooked food to office workers.

'The biggest slum in Dharavi has an open sewer running through the middle,' says Armstrong. 'You see big rats. But as we become increasingly removed from interaction with each other and spend more time on devices, Dharavi feels like the antidote. It's a triumph of humanity, and as warm and friendly a place as I've ever been.'

Dabbawalas at work in Mumbai

Other highlights include Jaipur, named the 'pink city' because of its beautifully painted buildings, and an encounter with elephants in Bandipur National Park.

'Last time I went to India, I sweated under the weight of an enormous backpack,' smiles Armstrong, who turns 56 on 2 March. 'I enjoyed the country then, but I adored it this time.'

MOVIE OF THE WEEK

MARTY SUPREME

Timothée Chalamet is incredible in this tale of obsession and determination

COMEDY DRAMA

Available now, buy or rent from digital stores, including Prime Video and Sky Store ★★★★★

A kinetic, exhausting, brilliantly crafted blast of a movie that somehow gets you rooting for its impulsive, reckless and, at times, supremely unlikeable lead character – 1950s wannabe table tennis champ Marty Mauser – thanks to Timothée Chalamet's tour-de-force performance. 'Inspired by' real-life US table tennis legend Marty Reisman, Chalamet's Marty is a blue-collar New York hustler with 'a purpose' which he will sacrifice literally anything to achieve.

Director and co-writer Josh Safdie creates a wholly fictional account of Marty's messy and chaotic route to a final reckoning against Koto Kawaguchi's Japanese champion Endo. The escalating series of misadventures – as Marty struggles against the odds to get the money to compete – includes a self-serving fling with an ageing movie icon (Gwyneth Paltrow), domestic shenanigans with his pregnant and married girlfriend (Odessa A'zion) and his friendship/rivalry with a Holocaust survivor-cum-table tennis mentor (Géza Röhrig).

The sport is depicted with the same relentless high-stakes energy that drives the whole movie, and the score and cinematography are sublime but this is a film you will find both exhilarating and exhausting with a protagonist you can't help but both love and hate.

Unique, unsettling and wildly entertaining in equal measure, prepare to be worn-out when the final credits roll.

The American Society of Magical Negroes

From Saturday, Netflix ★★★★

Awkward young black man Justice Smith is brought into a secret society by David Alan Grier and given magical powers... to make white people's lives that much easier. But as he takes on client Drew Tarver, he realises his mission is to help him win the girl Smith has just fallen for himself, co-worker An-Li Bogan... This sly, elegant satire by writer-director Kobi Libii takes a fresh approach to questions of racism and flips them on their head – the American Society of Magical Negroes exists purely to ensure white folks aren't threatened by their black counterparts and so helping the black population thrive – and does a smart job of showing that humility is not all it's cracked up to be. Smith, as ever, is a fine lead, and his burgeoning relationship with Bogan is sweetly done, but wisely doesn't override the movie's key message. 2024, 12, 104MIN

Ace stunt performer Ryan Gosling is the double for A-lister Aaron Taylor-Johnson and is having a bit of a thing with Emily Blunt's camera operator. But an accident changes everything and, 18 months later, he's eking out a living – until he's called to a shoot in Australia. Blunt is director, and none-too-happy to see him, Taylor-Johnson is missing and Gosling has to play sleuth. Director David Leitch's film is a snappy, sharp, sexy screwball romance, with sparking chemistry between Gosling and Blunt, great action and fab support from Taylor-Johnson, Hannah Waddingham and Winston Duke. 2023, 12, 126MIN

MYSTERY CHILLER

Bring Her Back

Saturday, 10.20pm, Sky Premiere ★★★★

Australian film-making siblings Danny and Michael Philippou terrified the film world with their break-out hit Talk to Me, and for their follow-up they add trauma to an already heady mix. After the sudden death of their dad, Billy Barratt and his partially sighted tween stepsister Sora Wong are taken into foster care by ex-therapist Sally Hawkins, whose own child recently passed away.

In her house there's another foster child, the eerie, near catatonic Jonah Wren Phillips... With Hawkins' overly cheerful demeanour occasionally slipping, we sense that something is very wrong, especially as she attempts to create conflict between Barratt and Wong. But why?

A chilling, genuinely creepy atmosphere builds and pervades the movie, but is accompanied by a deep well of sadness, as grief and despair also play a pivotal part. At its heart is a sensational performance by Hawkins as a desperate woman who will stop at nothing to achieve her terrible goals. Although more measured and less ostentatious than their first film, Bring Her Back is still a horror movie, and the Philippou boys deliver some squirm-inducing shocks right up until the devastating finale. 2025, 18, 104MIN

With his gaunt cheekbones and intense gaze, Willem Dafoe certainly looks the part as Vincent van Gogh in this vivid, impressionistic drama about the tragic artist's final days. He does an excellent job, too, of capturing van Gogh's tormented spirit. And he gets fine support from Rupert Friend as van Gogh's loyal brother Theo, Oscar Isaac as fellow painter and testy friend Paul Gauguin, and Mads Mikkelsen as a chiding priest. 2018, 12, 111MIN

The Last Voyage of the Demeter

Starts today, Netflix ★★★

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

A good old-fashioned supernatural horror film, this expands upon a small section of Bram Stoker's classic Dracula that recounts the vampire's journey from Romania to England, hidden in earth-filled crates. Even though we know the outcome from the get-go, the movie makes for fun, bloody entertainment as we follow what occurs on the Demeter through the eyes of the ship's doctor (Corey Hawkins). It's essentially a B-movie on steroids, but a fine cast, including Liam Cunningham as the captain, David Dastmalchian and Aisling Franciosi, steer this stormy, sea-spattered adventure to its unavoidable conclusion. 2023, 15, 118MIN

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

Director Steven Soderbergh's family drama-cum-chiller is both a technical achievement and an engrossing chiller, told entirely from the point-of-view of the entity. A 'presence' silently watches as a family, cold Lucy Liu, pensive Chris Sullivan and their teen kids Callina Liang and Eddy Maday, move into their house. It hones in on Liang, the only one who can even sense it, but why? As the mystery unfolds, we witness a family in crisis, but when events come to a head they are positively nerve-shredding. 2024, 15, 84MIN

This big-screen outing for the TV cartoon family is an inspired, non-stop riot of visual and verbal gags – not to mention the dozens of blink-and-you'll-miss-them throwaway gags hovering at the edges of the screen. The plot is deliciously daft – Homer (voiced by Dan Castellaneta) adopts a pig and thus sets into motion an environmental disaster that ends up with Springfield being quarantined under a big dome and the family fleeing to Alaska – but is really just the basis for a glorious spoof of American life and politics. 2007, PG, 87MIN

A jury is certain a man (Gabriel Basso) accused of murdering his girlfriend after a rowdy quarrel in a roadside bar is guilty. Except for Nicholas Hoult. Why his juror is holding out in this seemingly open-and-shut case slowly becomes clear in Clint Eastwood's 40th film as director, which tells its story in an unfussy but gripping way, twisting and turning as it cleverly explores Hoult's ethical tangles. His everyman hero is excellent, and he gets superb support from Toni Collette as the prosecutor and JK Simmons as a retired detective and fellow juror. 2024, 12, 114MIN

And so begins a cycle of insanity that descends upon Cage – bit by bit – as he starts to lose everything, including his mind. Beautifully directed by Lorcan Finnegan in shimmering gold and burnt umber, this is a tense, sweaty and brilliantly claustrophobic movie. LIVE WINTER SPORTS

From Wed, C4, Channel 4 Streaming & C4 YouTube

Hard on the heels of a record-breaking Team GB performance at the Winter Olympics, our Paralympians take to the snow and ice in Italy, where more than 600 athletes from 50 nations will contest 79 medal events across six events – para alpine and cross-country skiing, biathlon, ice hockey, snowboarding and wheelchair curling.

Four years ago, in Beijing, ParalympicsGB returned home with six medals, including gold for visually impaired alpine skier Neil Simpson in the men's super-G (see panel, right).

The Games get under way from Wednesday ahead of the Opening Ceremony at Verona's Roman amphitheatre on Friday evening. We caught up with former racing driver and aspiring Paralympic triathlete Billy Monger, part of the C4 presenting team, to hear more…

The curling starts this week with a new event, the mixed doubles. Are you a fan? It's a sport a lot of people connect to because it's so different, tactical and always seems to go down to the wire. We have a good track record and are usually in the mix.

What does it take to become a Paralympian? Resilience and a never-give-up attitude. These athletes have all had challenges in their lives, but managed to pick themselves up and make it to the start line. For us, telling that backstory is really important.

This is the 50th anniversary of the first Winter Paralympics. What has changed, and what still needs to change? We've come a long way in terms of the events, level of competition and how many incredible athletes we're able to see. Going forward, I would love people to be so engaged that, rather than waiting for the next Games, they think: 'There's a World Championship next year, how can I watch that?'

C4 has a strong team lined up. How much are you looking forward to working with them? I've worked with [former wheelchair basketball player] Ade Adepitan before, and what he doesn't know about Paralympic sport isn't worth knowing. Dame Sarah Storey [para cyclist and swimmer] has won more medals than I've had hot dinners. And [para swimmer] Alice Tai, who is also on the team, helped teach me to swim.

- ✔ These sweet peas are quick to establish, easy to grow and proven to perform whether grown for height, cascade or compact pot displays
- ✔ Supplied as a set of 30 garden ready plants, including ten each of Fragrant Trails, Patio Perfect and Cut Flower Mix

YOUR DOUBLE GUARANTEE you garden

1. If you're not totally happy with your order, return it within 30 days and we'll replace or refund in full.
2. Should any hardy plants fail to thrive thereafter, we will replace free of charge. You just pay the P&P.

Peter McDermott, Head Gardener

"They look fantastic..."

"I can't wait for them to flower. Large plugs with a good healthy root system"

7.20 Rugby Union: Six Nations

7.20 LIVE Rugby Union: Six Nations Ireland v Wales: Jill Douglas presents all the action from the opening match in the fourth round of fixtures, held at Aviva Stadium. Garry Ringrose was shown a 20-minute red card last year at the Principality Stadium with Ireland 10-3 ahead, and Wales made the most of the visitors being down to 14 men by scoring 15 unanswered points to lead 18-10 thanks to tries from Jac Morgan and Tom Rogers. However, Six Nations debutant Jamie Osborne then scored a brilliant try for the Irish as they fought back to win 27-18. With analysis from Brian O'Driscoll, Rory Best, Dan Biggar and Jamie Roberts, reports by Gabriel Clarke, and commentary by Miles Harrison, Shane Williams and Gordon D'Arcy. Kick-off is at 8.10. (S)

KIDS WATCHLIST

Great shows for young viewers (from tots to teens) on linear TV and streaming

BBC iPLAYER Girl Troop Vs Aliens

Wed & Thu, 6pm, CBBC & BBC iPlayer

This brand new series, which was developed from a sell-out show at the Edinburgh Fringe, follows a quartet of 12-year-olds – Tilda (centre), Kiara, Ruby and Ginny – who are geared up for a summer of fun at Brighthawk camp. However, their plans are turned upside down when the camp is besieged by aliens!

Can the girls step up and use their survival skills to defend the planet – and earn the Brighthawk Planet Protector badge along the way? You bet they can!

sky cinema Pets on a Train

Friday, 6am & 6.30pm, Sky Premiere

Described as a kid-friendly Die Hard (yes, really!), this French animated comedy follows a warm-hearted raccoon thief called Falcon, who is tricked into taking part in a hi-tech heist by a vengeful badger named Hans. But things go south after Hans hijacks a train in the name of revenge, leaving Falcon to team up with pets on board to bring the train to a stop.

Will keep kids entertained – and grown-ups will love the Die Hard references, so it's perfect for film night!

Suranne Jones as DCI Silva and Rose Leslie as DI Longacre

FIRST LOOK

VIGIL

Suranne Jones and Rose Leslie are back in the taut thriller

BBC1's crime drama Vigil is making an icy return later this year for its third series, which this time around focuses on a murder investigation in the Arctic.

The six-part run, which was filmed in Scotland and the Norwegian islands of Svalbard, sees Suranne Jones reprise her role as DCI Amy Silva, who, alongside her colleague and life partner DI Kirsten Longacre (Rose Leslie), is sent to a polar research station where one of the personnel taking part in a secret British special forces mission has been fatally shot. As the couple try to identify the killer, they must also attempt to calm international tensions, but their careers and relationship come under threat.

ARCTIC MISSION

Jeppe Beck Laursen, Steven Miller, Derek Riddell, Naomi Yang, Benjamin Wainwright, Tornike Gogrichiani, Amy Manson, Steven Cree and Danusia Samal join the cast, while Gary Lewis is back as Detective Superintendent Colin Robertson with Dominic Mafham returning as MI5 official Sir Ian Downing.

'I can't wait to return to Vigil and work with Rose again,' says Jones. 'I'm sure it will be a thrill of a ride.'

'I'm delighted that Suranne and Rose are returning for a new adventure,' adds creator and writer, Tom Edge. 'We travel to the frozen north where the world's great powers are competing to secure advantages as the ice melts. We hope to deliver an epic investigation that shines a light on issues that will shape the world we all live in.'

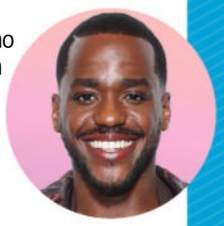
WHAT'S NEXT FOR...

Kerry Godliman

In ITV1's Dalziel and Pascoe, a reboot of Reginald Hill's books about the cop duo previously portrayed by Warren Clarke and Colin Buchanan, the actor will play DI Andrea Dalziel with Nina Singh as DS Paige Pascoe.

Ncuti Gatwa

The actor is joining the cast of BBC1's 10-part drama First Day on Earth about a novelist (Michaela Coel) who uncovers secrets in Ghana. Thandiwe Newton, Maxine Peake and Danny Sapani will also appear.



David Morrissey

For C4's new drama The Siege, exploring the raid by the SAS which ended the 1980 hostage situation at the Iranian Embassy in London, the actor will star alongside Danny Dyer and Motaz Malhees.

Freddie Flintoff

In ITV1's Freddie Flintoff's Mission: Nepal, the ex-cricketer joins Mr Jahrad Haq, the surgeon who performed Flintoff's facial surgery after a car crash, to examine how similar procedures can help patients in Nepal.

Next week On sale Tuesday 3 March

Scarpetta

Prime Video's crime drama, based on Patricia Cornwell's novels, stars Nicole Kidman.

The Capture

As BBC1's thriller returns, DI Rachel Carey (Holliday Grainger) deals with a terrifying attack.

Rooster

A Sky Comedy series sees Steve Carell trying to help his college professor daughter (Charly Clive).

F1: Australian GP

British racing star Lando Norris begins the defence of his F1 title in Australia on Sky Sports.

SELF STANDING

18V CORDLESS STICK VACUUM KIT

There's no need for a clunky, heavy and hard-to-manoeuvre corded vacuum cleaner anymore, this self-standing 18V ONE+™ Cordless Stick Vacuum gives complete cordless freedom and the same deep hygienic clean using advanced frictionless motor technology.

It will lift dirt from hard floors and carpets with its 90 air watts of suction and 900l/min of air flow for powerful one pass cleaning that captures up to 99.5% of particles including pollen, fungal spores, bacteria, and viruses. Not only does the frictionless motor give more power, but also more battery runtime for a whole house clean. This feature packed self-standing, lightweight, and cordless vacuum cleaner will make what was once a chore, a quick and effortless experience.
